SUNKIST REGAINS COOPERATIVE STATUS FROM SUPREME COURT

SHERMAN OAKS – Sunkist Growers, Inc. received approval from the U.S. Supreme Court this month to qualify as a cooperative under the Capper-Volstead act.

A court decision handed down in December, 1967 stated that Sunkist did not qualify because some members were not producers as well. Loss of the Capper-Volstead status posed a threat to Sunkist, according to General Manager D.M. Anderson, because it removed anti-trust exemption from the corporation.

This, said Anderson, meant that Sunkist members might not have been able to work in concert to market their products, jeopardizing Sunkist's position in organized selling.

Following three years of litigation, said Anderson, United States District Court Judge David Williams, in Los Angeles, ruled that "Sunkist's present structure constitutes an agricultural cooperative protected by section one of the Capper-Volstead act."

CONTRACT SIGNING EXPECTED THIS WEEK FOR SEQUOIA MEDICAL CLINIC

PORTERVILLE – Contract signing is anticipated this week by Dr. Philip Moore for construction of Sequoia Medical clinic, to be located on Villa and Putnam in Porterville.

The clinic will house 13 medical doctors, two optometrists, and one physiotherapist, according to Dr. Moore, who will be administrator of the clinic. Presently the medical group is composed of nine doctors, two optometrists, and one physiotherapist.

A corporation consisting of these 12 specialists was formed six months ago, said Moore, with plans to bring in other specialists following completion of the clinic.

Plans for the two-story, 25,000 square foot clinic include laboratory and x-ray facilities.

"I believe Porterville needs this clinic badly," Dr. Moore said. "It is designed around function and efficiency, and will encourage other specialists to come to the community. It will also allow people who need medical attention, to get it in the area."

Moore said the clinic is advantageous to physicians also, in that they won't have to establish a practice on their own and will have financial backing from the corporation for required specialized facilities and equipment.

Joe Doctor Receives Appointment To New Federal Regional Archives Council

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Appointment to the new Regional Archives Council, established by the Federal government, has been received by Joseph E. Doctor, Exeter resident, historian, and graduate of Porterville college.

The appointment was announced this week by Congressman Bob Mathias; the regional council area includes the states of California, Hawaii, Arizona and Nevada in the federal government's national archives program.

The 15-member panel on which Doctor serves will advise archivists of the United States, and the General Services administrator, on archival practices and policies in the four-state region. Aim of the program is to aid research needs of scholars, and other users of archives, and to promote close cooperation between historical and educational institutes.

Selection of council members was based on knowledge of and interest in history of the region.

Doctor is the author of "Shotguns On Sunday," the story of Porterville's famous outlaw and gunman, Jim McKinney. He is a former editor of The Exeter Sun, and also wrote and edited the Centennial edition of the Visalia Times Delta.

BEAUTIFUL, NEW building of R.L. Schafer & Associates, Inc. will be open for public inspection from 2:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m., Saturday, with this Professional Center on West Morton representing another fine commercial improvement that indicates confidence in the community of Porterville - in fact confidence in the total economy of the future. New Building Is Center For Major Operation

PORTERVILLE – Open house, Saturday afternoon, at the new R.L. Schafer & Associates Inc. Professional Center building at 881 West Morton, will bring into public view a most modern and beautiful headquarters for an extensive general civil engineering and architectural firm that is operating throughout the southern San Joaquin valley, as well as in southern California and Arizona.

The Open house is scheduled from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.; and "everyone is invited," says R.L. Schafer, head of the Associates who first came to Porterville in 1959 to work as a civil engineer, then formed his own firm in 1961.

The new facility represents an investment of $150,000 in land, building and furnishings; R.L. Schafer & Associates occupy a major portion of the 6,200 square foot floor space; three 700 square feet office suites, each of which includes a reception area, secretarial space, and two office rooms, will be rented or leased; ultimate plan includes a second building, tied in on the west side of the site.

Associates with Schafer in the firm are: Jim Winton, Mike Lane, Duane Call and Bill Hobbs, the latter an architect with extensive, diversified experience, and the only architect now in Porterville.

Young People Will Canvass City For New Christian Youth Center

PORTERVILLE – Youths from Fresno and Costa Mesa began canvassing Porterville streets this week in promotion of a newly-begun interdenominational Christian Youth center, located in what was formerly the Methodist church on Putnam avenue in Porterville.

Ranging from 14 to 19 years old, the youths plan to discuss religion with other teenagers and encourage them to participate in center activities.

Called the One-Way House, the center will be governed by a nine-member board of directors, with 27 year-old Oscar Cervantes, of Union City, acting as youth counselor and program director.

Goals set for the center according to Howard Michaelis, board chairman and owner of the building, are to bring moral and spiritual guidance to anyone requesting it, plus recreational opportunities for teenagers who come to the center.

Board members were selected by Michaelis to serve a dual purpose. They represent a cross section of Christian faiths, and have a variety of professional backgrounds that can be used for the good of the center.

Memberships and camping enrollment may be obtained by calling the center office at 784-8192 or registering at 747 North Sunnyside.

Hurley Retires From Central Valley Citrus And Packing Co. In Lindsay

LINDSAY – James J. Hurley, president and co-manager of Central Valley Citrus and Packing company, announced his retirement Tuesday, effective immediately, to devote full-time to farming and investments.

Hurley and three partners sold the packing house June 1 to Pacific Lighting corporation of Los Angeles. John C. Knapp, partner and co-manager with Hurley, will continue to serve as manager, with his son, John as assistant manager.

The June 1 sale was part of a transaction by which Pacific Lighting acquired all properties of Blue Goose, Incorporated, a Fullerton-based fruit growing and packing firm with operations in the Southeast and Southwest as well as California. Eadington Fruit company and Davis Brothers, the other partners in the Lindsay operation, also were principal owners of Blue Goose.

Tom Eadington and Hurley began operations at Central Valley Citrus and Packing company in 1954, with a volume of 35,000 field boxes. Four years later they handled 750,000 boxes.

In recent peak years volume has approached 2,000,000 boxes, making it one of the largest citrus houses in the San Joaquin valley. The packing house, affiliated with Sunkist

TALK ABOUT BIG BUSINESS!

There is a lot of talk about the evils of big business these days, most of it by advocates of big government. Yet big government is the biggest business of them all.

This isn't exactly news, of course, but every time someone analyzes government the facts come out startling. Almost frightening.

The news magazine U.S. News and World Report has looked at our fiscal Goliath and taken some measurements:

In the past decade the number of persons on the public payroll — federal, state and local — has risen from 8.4 million to 12.6 million. One out of every six civilian workers in the country.

In the same period spending by public agencies has more than doubled, now ringing up 313 billion tax dollars annually. One dollar out of every $4.30 of personal income in the nation comes out of our taxes.

While the national population rose 13 percent from 1960 to 1970, government spending went up 130 percent, government taxes went up 113 percent, and government employees of all kinds increased by 51 percent.

Business, big or small, has to compete for its income. Big government doesn't. It does not need to be efficient in order to keep going. At least it hasn't had to up to now.

There are signs, however—glaring signs—that we are reaching a crisis point in governmental spending. New York City is a classic example, and largely because of it New York State is not far behind.

Taxation historically always has had its limits beyond which the public will not go. It is time to face up to reality.

From Daybell Nursery

By John

Many of you stayed home over the long weekend and enjoyed some gardening. We are always glad of this because it cuts down on the traffic along with helping the nursery business. If more people stayed at home, or rode bicycles, it would soon end the smog. It might also cure the freeway blight and let the trees replenish our oxygen supply.

Even without the terrible fate of having to spend a weekend at home you might plant a tree or two. These help cool your house, give you something to lean on, hold up swings and tree houses, make a roost for birds, look pretty and also make one of your better contributions to the environment.

If you would journey over to "E" Street just north of Olive for a look see we would be happy to tell you all we know about trees and help you select one. Experience tells us you will be more influenced by the opinion of your wife, or the fellow that mows your lawn, but we would still be glad to help you. We have a great many varieties which are adapted to this area and we guarantee them to grow.

Other things available on "E" Street include bedding plants for quick color and all the necessary soil additives to get them off to a good start. Open everyday so come see us soon.

run about $200,000; type of work done by the firm requires highly trained and technically skilled personnel.

"We are set up to provide general civil engineering and architectural services, and we are general engineering contractors," Schafer says. "Actually, our operation involves us in a wide variety of activity in the areas of construction, subdividing, farm layouts, surveying, water projects, water rights determinations, and city engineering work.

"We put our headquarters in Porterville because we believe that this is the hub of our operation that now includes work in Tulare, Kern, Fresno and Kings counties, as well as in other states," Schafer says.

As examples of the work that the firm does, R.L. Schafer & Associates is handling engineering and layout for shopping centers that are being constructed by the Mangano corporation in Tulare, Visalia, and Dinuba; water rights for the Boise Cascade Wells Ranch development in Tulare county were worked out by the firm; under a subcontract with Koebig & Koebig of Los Angeles, surveys and field work are being done for a City of Coalinga water development plan; agricultural land surveys, crop planting plans, and other agricultural engineering is being done in Kern county for Tenneco and Travelers Insurance company; in Arizona, a job involving rehabilitation and relining of 25 miles of canal was recently completed for the Painted Rock Development company, a subsidiary of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company.

The firm is handling project engineering for evaporative brine ponds and disposal of industrial wastes at Consolidated Olive in Lindsay; also engineering work on the new Terra Bella Citrus house being constructed by W.D. Fowler & Sons, a member of the Pacific Lighting complex. Arcitectual plans were adjusted and engineering developed for the memorial building at Poplar; the firm did the engineering work for the Fowler office at Terra Bella and the Food Machinery corporation plant at Lindsay, also for a Tulare Industrial Foundation building in Tulare.

Schafer himself heads up the firm's water department, with Call as his assistant. Schafer is a consulting engineer for the Lower Tule and Pixley Irrigation districts, and for the Pioneer Water company. He is the engineer for the Lewis Creek Water district in Tulare county; the Liberty Canal company and the Liberty Water district in Fresno county; and the Settlers Ditch company, the People's Ditch company, the Riverside Ditch company, the Lakeside Ditch company and the Lakeside Irrigation Water district, all in Kings county.

In the Kings County Water district, that embraces 140,000 acres, he is in charge of a continuous ground water program that involves checking of water quality and quantity, working in this project with State of California water engineers.

He is also water master on the Tule river and secretary of the Tule River association that is composed of the districts and companies that hold Tule River water rights; he has been involved in settlement of water rights on the Kings, Kaweah, and Tule rivers.

In the field of city engineering, R.L. Schafer & Associates does work for Porterville and Tulare; Schafer is the city engineer for Lindsay and Corcoran; at Corcoran he worked out and is administering a 10-year plan for sewage disposal and water works development and, in both Lindsay and Corcoran, he is engineering street improvement projects.

"Our goal is to provide a complete engineering and architectural service in any area that needs these types of services," Schafer says.

The firm operates on a departmentalized basis with Lane in charge of structural calculations. Winton heads up the engineering horizontal and vertical control section; Aaron Canvasser is his assistant, Chuck Sanders, is engineering aid, and Roger Balbo and Melvin Booth are draftsmen.

The office staff is headed by Mrs. Doris Cates, and includes Mrs. Jill Armstrong and Mrs. Karen Kerwood. And making the operation a sort of family affair, Shelley Schafer, who is attending college, is working in the office during the summer, and Mrs. Schafer is the corporation secretary.

"All the departments, and the people in them, are important to our total operation," Schafer says, "but addition of our architectural department, headed by a man with the varied experience that Bill Hobbs has, is a major asset, and, of course, the man working with him - Tim Marks, knows the community well since he was raised in Porterville."

Schafer feels that the general Porterville area is on the upgrade. "People seem to be noticing us more and more and seem to be talking more about development opportunites in this vicinity," he says. "There's a lot going on, development-wise, right now, and there's going to be more in the future."

In addition to the "working areas" of the new Professional Center building, a conference room has also been included - a room that might be described as "plush," and that certainly is conducive to discussion of business matters. While this room is primarily for use of the firm, Schafer says that it will also be available to community groups involved in development projects.

Porterville Ranks First In County For Taxable Sales

PORTERVILLE – Porterville displayed the greatest percentage increase in taxable sales for Tulare county during the first quarter of 1971, according to a report recently released by the state board of equalization.

Amounting to an 11.4 percent rise, the increase represents $9,455,000 in taxable sales of merchandise. Visalia ranked second for the county with 5.6 per cent increase, and Tulare is third with 10.2 per cent.

Overall increase for the county amounted to 8.4 per cent, representing $72,131,000 compared to last year's $65,516,000 for the first quarter.

The report indicates a 4.8 per cent increase in sales compared to a 4.0 per cent rise in prices, the first time in a year that sales rate has advanced above price increase.

Total sales and use tax collections combined for the first quarter this year amounted to $543 million.

Sign Ordinance Meeting Tonight

PORTERVILLE – An open meeting for discussion of a proposed Porterville sign ordinance is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the city council chambers at Porterville city hall. Purpose of the meeting, according to Chamber of Commerce President Allan Weaver, is to give businessmen affected by the ordinance an opportunity to clarify questions concerning the new ordinance.

Japan Lifts Limit On Grapefruit Import

LOS ANGELES – Quantitative restrictions on U.S. grapefruit imports to Japan have been liberalized, according to D.M. Anderson, Sunkist Growers general sales manager headquartered in Kobe, Japan. Sunkist spokesmen say that the import liberalization will mean an increase from 50,000 cartons shipped per year to an estimated 2,800,000 by California and Arizona Sunkist growers for the current export season.

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

SO, IT'S the first day of the new regime in the post office - July 1, 1971 - the day that ushered in the new look, new action, new efficiency. The time - 4:30 p.m., two windows open, 13 people standing in line; 4:43 p.m., 18 people in line; 4:44 p.m., third window opened; 4:47 p.m., we get what we got in line to get - a roll of stamps, completing a 15-second transaction after waiting 17 minutes; 4:48 p.m., we leave, but there's still 14 people in line. . . Of course we do get a considerable amount of mail without undue delay and with a really low percentage of error. . . But those lines! Man, they drive us to strong drink and horrible profanity.

AFTER THE S.F. Giants blew two to the Dodgers over the holiday weekend (in one game committing six errors and allowing the Dodgers a 10-run inning) Babe Hodgson, Porterville business man and official grandstand manager of the Giants, has declared a week of mourning and is passing out black arm bands.

NOTE TO the hundreds of avid Tribune readers who threaten us with bodily harm if we don't get Ruth Loyd back in print: The situation is this - Ruth is adamant, unreasonable, and, we suspect, under the influence of the women's lib movement. She says, "No more columns until you give me a Christmas present," (the you referring to the editorial us) this statement being made after we had assured her that come December 25, 1971, she can expect a traffic jam of sleighs and reindeer in her front yard. But like we say, Ruth is unreasonable. "What about the last four Christmases?" she wants to know. And like we also say, Ruth is adamant, so we have decided that we owe Ruth a Christmas in July. Problem is that we can't make up our mind as to a gift, like maybe a gold Cadillac, a Mink stole, a set of diamond and ruby earrings. We considered such items, but discarded the ideas, since the true value of a gift comes not from its monetary worth, but from the deep sentiment that inspires the giving. So we have thought of overwhelming Ruth with six pencils, all at once, and sharpened; or maybe a half ream of paper, gift wrapped; or a frame for a picture of her favorite editor (that's the editorial us again) said picture being available at several photography studios for $12.50 - to Ruth only, that is - through a discount deal arranged by us especially for her. . . But perhaps there are other possibilities. Maybe someone can give us their idea of just what to give Ruth for her Christmas in July, something that will inspire her to put pencil on paper once again. . . Just mail your suggestions to "Gifts For Ruth," P.O. Box 1110, Porterville, Ca. 93257. (Ed. Note from the editorial us: Please enclose check or money order for cost of suggested gift.)

ANOTHER PORTERVILLE boy may be headed for baseball's big time - John Alba, who has been signed by the Minnesota Twins and sent to the Twins' Sarasota, Florida, farm team in the Florida State league. John graduated from Porterville high in June, after a fine season on the mound for the Panthers. throwing a 5-0 perfect game against Foothill high of Bakersfield in the Delano tournament, and, during regular season play, coming up with 83 strikeouts in 88 2/3 innings. He also pitched three innings of shutout ball in the recent annual Exeter Lions club all-star game. . . So watch the sports pages. and maybe, someday, the tele. John has what it takes to make the grade.

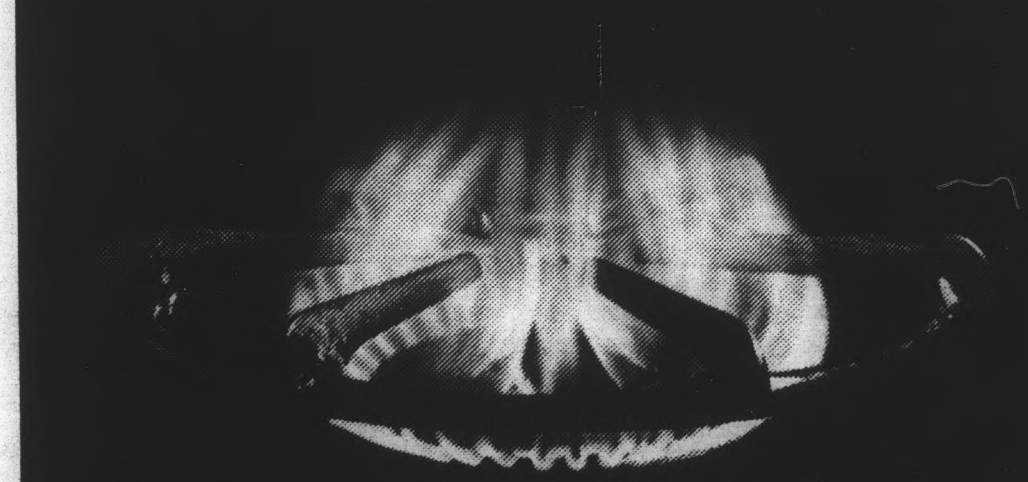
How long can we go on like this?



You may have heard of energy shortages hitting parts of the country. Shortages that include natural gas.

Can it happen here?

As far as your home needs are concerned, no. We'll be able to supply all our "firm" customers, such as homes and businesses and most industries. (Since we don't have an overabundance of gas, we may have to interrupt deliveries more often to our industrial customers, who are prepared to switch to other fuels whenever "firm" customers' needs require.)

But in a few years, as Southern California grows, our present sources will not be able to keep up with the expected growth.

We're looking in Alaska. And Canada. And in Central and South America. These places offer huge potential natural gas deposits. With problems to match.

The terrain is either roadless ice and tundra or roadless swamp and jungle. To get the gas out, we may have to build thousands of miles of pipeline—being careful to maintain the land's delicate balance of nature. Or we may have to build expensive plants to liquefy the gas at minus 258°F, then ship it home in tankers built like giant thermos bottles.

Another promising source is the same West Texas from which we've brought you gas for nearly 25 years. We're helping finance exploration for new gas fields there.

But whether by pipe or by ship, gas from one or more new sources should be bolstering present supplies within a few years.

We've been serving Southern California for over 100 years now. And we intend to go on like this for another century or two.

Field Burning Underway In Tulare County

VISALIA – Burning harvested barley stubble and field flooding in preparation for milo planting is currently underway in Tulare county, according to Elvin Mankins, agricultural commissioner.

Cotton fields are beginning to show fair growth, but are behind average growth rate for this time of year. Irrigation is underway for most field crops, with corn and milo showing good stand.

Peach, plum, and nectarine continue to yield heavily. Olive crops look promising throughout the county, said Mankins.

Valencia prorates are running very low, with new crops coming along rapidly.

Tomato quality is consistently good, with harvest progressing slowly. Squash harvest is nearly completed.

Young People Will Canvass City

The members are Wil Wilenius, Porterville high school counselor; Jack Egorov, citrus grower; Mrs. Bill Neufeld, housewife; Dr. Bill Propp, chiropractor; Hooper Campbell, chaplain for the county juvenile department in Visalia; Charles Davis, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Terra Bella; Brad Owen, Porterville contractor; and Lehman Myatt, pastor of the First Assembly of God church.

Cervantes, formerly a drug user, has spent the past seven years as a traveling minister, trying to reach young people in trouble through radio and television appearances, in parks and auditoriums, and on the streets.

He was formerly affiliated with Teen Challenge of San Francisco, an organization working with youth gangs in cities, also individuals with drug problems. Cervantes said seven heroin addicts have approached him for help since his arrival to Porterville, all of them being directed to medical centers designed to help persons with drug problems.

"The teen center is not for drug users," said Cervantes. "I send these people to places in Visalia, Fresno, Bakersfield, or San Francisco that are equipped to help addicts and that have trained staff members.

"The Christian Youth center is a place for the young people of Porterville to come when they're bored with wandering the streets or watching television at home. Here they can play ping pong, pool, have soft drinks, talk, listen to gospel and religious music, sing, and learn about the Bible."

Bible study sessions and counselling are available throughout the week, with center hours from 10:00 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Cervantes emphasized that parents are welcome at any hour the center is open.

He also hopes to implement the center as a training ground for girls in cooking, sewing, and home economics, and for boys in welding and machinery repair. He said several people in the community have already offered both space and equipment for these classes to be conducted.

One room in the church has been set aside as a clothing center, where anyone in need of an article of clothing may take what is available. If the article is not available, said Cervantes, funds will be obtained to purchase the article new.

Depending exclusively on donations, Cervantes said the center needs typewriters, a refrigerator, and many miscellaneous office, kitchen, and recreational items.

Cervantes said he is available to address groups and organizations in the area on youth and drugs, his ministry and travels, or the teen center.

Novocain was introduced to the medical profession in 1905 by scientist Alfred Einhorn.

By MIKE ABRAMSON

Every hunter who's ever been afield in California has faced at least one incident where he's wondered if he'd survive the occasion.

The incident can have been as simple as a hunter carelessly letting the muzzle of a loaded gun swing in the direction of his partner. Or as terrifying as watching an idiot fire a high powered rifle into the brush at the sound of what might be a deer.

It is the careless few of course who kill or injure people with firearms and those few may now be weeded out of the ranks of California outdoorsmen.

Since 1954 youngsters under 18 have been required to complete hunter safety training before being licensed to shoot. More than half a million juniors have been trained in programs sponsored by the State Department of Fish and Game and the accident rate in their class has been dramatically reduced.

Now the principal is to be applied to their elders.

Even though most hunting seasons lie ahead in the year, it is license renewal time now and as of June 1 a new hunter safety law requires that all persons, regardless of age, must present evidence of having held a previous California hunting license or a certificate of competence before being issued a hunting license.

Basically the certificate of competence issues only after completing a course in hunter safety, principles of conservation and sportsmanship — which means that ultimately, after those grandfathered by the new legislation retire to the fireside, all California hunters will be so trained before taking to the hills.

In adopting the new rule last year the legislature held that hunters should "be mindful of their responsibilities to others, toward wildlife and toward their natural environment."

That's putting into the law what most responsible hunters have felt for years.

A hunter who works at safety, one for example who passes up a clear shot at a crossing pheasant because he can't see beyond a stand of tules and someone might just be there, has a right to know that his fellows are safe.

There are those who complain about the requirement for safety training but some 25% of the state's three-quarters of a million hunters have been through the process and eventually all will have been.

In the interim, even those who are eligible for relicensing this year under the new law's grandfather clause might wish to review the fundamentals of firearms safety, conservation and sportsmanship which will be required of those who follow them afield in the years ahead.

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER, JR.

Welfare is ballooning at such a rate in the United States that there soon may not be a working class to support it.

In a capsule, during just the last ten years the number of people on welfare relief in the country has increased from 7,200,000 to 14,200,000. The dollar welfare cost—federal, state and local — it is estimated, has climbed from about $4.3 billion in 1961 to $16.4 billion presently.

Pending in the U.S. House of Representatives is another drastic revision in welfare programming. H.R. 1, a 688-page bill put together by the House Ways and Means Committee headed by Representative Wilbur Mills of Arkansas is a blockbuster.

In its major provisions, H.R. 1 would accomplish the following, if enacted:

The number of persons eligible for welfare would double overnight, making one out of eight citizens eligible for aid.

It would create a guaranteed annual income for families with children. A four person family, for example, with $720 annual earnings would be eligible for $2400 a year. The amount would drop as family earning increased.

Social security benefits would be kicked up another five per cent, making a 33 per cent increase in less than three years.

H.R. 1 is opposed by some groups as opening Pandora's box and by others for not coming up with enough.

Representative Al Ullman of Oregon warns against H.R. 1 saying "if we go down this road (guaranteed annual income) you haven't seen anything yet."

The National Welfare Rights Organization, reportedly composed of "welfare mothers" wants $6,500 in guaranteed annual income to start — a sum which it is estimated would cost the taxpayers $75 billion a year.

As you look at the impact on the various state welfare rolls, H.R. 1 would bring California's already nation-leading welfare rolls up from 2,061,800 to 2,444,400, a 19 per cent boost.

Across the nation it is estimated that over 8,000,000 people in the South would be eligible for welfare, about 3,700,000 in each of the Northeast and North Central areas and some 2,800,000 in the West.

If the trend continues very much further without relief to the wage earner, he won't be able to take home enough to keep his own family off relief, or certainly enough to put away for retirement and a happy senior life.

CONTROL IS STILL PROBLEM

BERKELEY - University of California scientists report progress with new mosquito-killing chemicals-natural and synthetic-that are much less likely to contaminate the environment. In addition, the experimental materials apparently work against mosquitoes that resist ordinary pesticides.

However, the UC researchers add, even if the new compounds prove successful in the field they still won't provide a simple answer to California's immense and complicated problem of mosquito control.

VANDALIA 4-H CLOSES OUT YEAR WITH FINAL MEETING AND FIELD DAY

In sheep showmanship Randy Reece placed fifth and Jason Carter sixth. With Carla Carter as a team member the group placed third.

Adults accompanying the members were Mrs. Russell Reece and Mr. and Mrs. Adair Brown. The awards were presented at a barbecue held in the evening to conclude the two day event.

VANDALIA – The last meeting of the 1970-71 club year for the Vandalia 4-H club was held June 10 at Camp Vandalia.

Richard Bennett reported on Heart Sunday. He also presented "thank-you" plaques to Mr. & Mrs. Russell Reece. Mrs. Reece was the Community Leader this year and they are moving to Canada. A plaque was also presented to Dewayne Milford. Rodney Homer presented awards for nursery exhibits at the 4-H Fair.

After the meeting the members and their families enjoyed a potluck dinner and games.

Our wagon, complete, is $2098.40*
The whole shebang. And that's 2 doors more than Toyota $700 less than VW*

No noisy little engine for us. Ours is horizontally opposed. It hummmmms along.

Power to the front wheels! We've got front-wheel drive. On corners, curves, ice, snow, gravel, all the skiddy spots—it's control no rear-wheel drive can give.

Thunk. Thunk. Thunk. Thunk. 4 doors, count 'em, 4. 2 better than some we know.

Say, 25 m.p.g.? Regular gas? And a gas tank placed midship for safety? Yes, yes, yes!

No fan, no fan belt, no fan noise. Hooray! Since it takes a heap of hp to drive a fan, aren't we smart, using our hp to drive our wagon instead?

How we keep it cool? With some genius engineering: two radiators and an automatic device that takes over when the going gets hot.

Racing cars and Subaru wagons have rack-and-pinion steering.

A very sporty 4-on-the-floor. Nice short throws, gear to gear to gear to gear.

Slip into something small. Our wagon's turning circle is no bigger than our car's: 31.5 easy little feet.

But do you know about our folds-up-flat-against-the-front-seat back seat?

That lets the floor behind stretch into well over 5 long flat-bottomed feet? (not counting the tailgate).

Because there is no hump?

And how we beat the bumps with independent suspension on all 4 wagon wheels?

You know now.

Not only does our hatch lift up, but...

Wow! A wagon our size and price with a tailgate you can open. A loading platform only about 15" from the ground. Wow indeed!

*Mind you, that's total suggested retail price. Not just POE, not stripped down, but loaded with the options most people buy, including radio. Not included: local taxes, dealer prep, freight. Unless you want to spring for air-conditioning, electric clock, and luggage rack. Compare. Compare. *Forget it.

WASHINGTON, D.C. – A bill providing for immediate and future protection, development, and administration of the 12 million acre California Desert has been recently introduced into the U.S. legislature by Congressman Bob Mathias.

A patient will be thoroughly tested at a minimal cost upon entering the clinic. With a complete medical background of the patient, said Moore, physicians will be better able to determine treatment if the patient returns to the clinic at a later date.
